

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method and apparatus for reducing noise and vibration generated by a variable reluctance motor. The relative positions of paired opposing modules in each phase unit are adjusted relative to a stator, even after assembly of the motor, to reduce the noise and vibration.

He was a man of great energy and a strong leader, and his influence was felt throughout the community.